Discussion Questions:

- How would you describe the condition of widowhood in Jesus' day in your own words? What parallels does this offer to the spiritual state of one who is not in Christ, or even to living in a world broken by sin for one who is in Christ?
- What does this passage teach you about God's compassion for His people, even when they sin? How does this edify and heighten your view of God?
- Have you experienced Jesus' call to you to "rise" personally? If you have, what kind of person ought you to be in light of that call? If you haven't, what is your response to what a passage like this is showing you?
